We were very unfortunate in being obliged to close schools so early last spring on account of the epidemics of measles and scarlet fever. However, through the faithful efforts of their teacher, Miss Melendy, the eighth grade were able to complete their year's work and graduate from the grammar school, and two of them entered Wilton High in the fall. The effect of the shortened school year was more noticeable perhaps in the primary room. From the middle of May until the first of September is a long time for the minds of little folks to retain the new ideas that they are just beginning to receive. This should be taken into account in noting the progress made.

We were fortunate at the beginning of the school year to be able to secure the services of Miss Southwick as supervisor of music. She is a teacher of several years' experience and anyone who knows of the unusual work in music done in the public schools of our neighboring town of Greenville, where she has taught for several years, will appreciate our good fortune. We will be much disappointed if we are not able to have her with us another year, but the state department of education has decreed that the expense of special teachers, whether of music, drawing, or of manual training, shall be paid by individual towns, so it will depend upon the action taken at the annual meeting whether we shall be able to hire her or not. We would like to quote here from the biennial report of the State Board of Education sent regularly to the chairman of the school board in each district: "In addition to appropriations sufficient to meet the state standards and to obtain state aid, if needed, each district should make such further provisions for its children as its means will allow and as its ideals require. The position often expressed, 'we have raised the five dollars that the law requires and now the state must give the rest,' does not express the law. It is an attempt to avoid responsibility and it does not represent the New Hampshire ideals of local initiative and of personal responsibility. Rather the statement should be:—the state has aided us so that no child may be deprived of proper schooling and so that average schools may be maintained. Our town is not satisfied with average schools and our children are worthy of even better opportunities than the law forces us to provide. For these advantages we propose to tax ourselves above what is 'required by law.' "

FANNIE A. WHEELER,

ANNIE L. YOUNG,

Members of School Board.

Superintendent's Report.

To the School Board of Temple:—

Herewith I submit my second annual report as Superintendent of your schools.

The fall term saw a change in teachers in the primary room. Miss Alice Wheeler resigned her position to teach in Greenville while Miss Ruth Smith of Hudson was elected to fill the vacancy. We were fortunate indeed to have Miss Melendy with us another year. Miss Melendy seems to have the faculty of inspiring children to do their best, and a very good record has been made this year, not only in scholarship but also in attendance. Thus far the percentage of attendance in the Grammar Grades has been the highest in the district. The task of teaching four grades in the common branches and at the same time attempting to carry on the work of a junior high school in the eighth grade is not an easy one. It has seemed necessary to do this in order to prepare children for the high school at Wilton. The more advanced subjects have not been taught however at the expense of the common branches, for it has been our purpose to see that the children have at least a thorough grounding in the fundamentals on graduating from the grammar school. I think we may look forward to some changes in our program which will decrease the number of subjects taught in the grammar grades.

The children in the primary grades have on the whole made good progress under Miss Smith this year. The second grade was a little slow in getting started but during the past two months they have improved steadily, so that with continued good work they should be up to grade by the end of the year. Up to the winter term the attendance of the children in the primary room was also very good.

Considerable interest was shown in gardening last year by the children in both the grammar and primary grades. Practically everyone in school had a garden and many of the children sent exhibits to the district fair at Wilton. Next year a local fair at which not only garden produce but also other school work is exhibited should prove of interest to all.

Miss Emma Southwick was engaged to teach music for the coming year and splendid progress has been made in singing. Last year the State Board allowed the expense of a music teacher in all towns where one was employed. On the assumption that this item of expense would again be allowed in the budget, Miss Southwick was engaged. The State Board, confronted with a big deficit for the year, has made no allowance for special teachers in any schools. Consequently there will be a deficit this year of approximately $225.00 for expense of the music teacher.

The amount of State Aid approved this year for Temple is $1,559.98. Of this amount $831.96 is sure to be available. The balance, or $727.97, will be sent later provided the legislature votes to raise the deficit of $245.000, for which the State Board has asked. Should the balance not be forthcoming there will be only enough money in the school treasury to run the schools until the first of April, consequently it will be necessary to postpone the school meeting until after such time as the legislature has taken definite action in regard to the deficiency measure. Also if state aid is not provided next year it will be necessary for the district to raise the money necessary for the support of its schools.

In conclusion I wish to express my appreciation for the hearty support accorded me by the teachers and school committee.

Respectfully submitted,

R. P. CURRIER,

Superintendent of Schools.
